

Flat Stanley

Reading Level: 2
Read Aloud Level: 1

---

The Review

After being flattened by a bulletin board, Stanley goes on some adventures including being mailed. Students enjoy listening and guessing what Stanley will do next.

Another option is to make one Stanley and have the person you mailed it to send it to another and so on. Put a please mail back to the school date on Stanley along with a letter explaining the project. Everyone will be surprised when they get him back how many signatures and places he has been.

OBJECTIVES

1. Students will learn about other states, countries, or cultures.

MATERIALS

1. Flat Stanley patterns
2. Paper and markers/crayons for each child
3. United States wall map
4. String

PROCEDURE

1. Have each student make and color their own Flat Stanley using a pattern provided.
2. Have the students take their Flat Stanley home and with parents help, have them mail it to someone they know in another state or country. Include an instruction letter telling them to answer the questions provided and mail the letter and Flat Stanley back to the student.
3. As the students get the returned mail, where it was mailed to on the wall map.
